Educational Resources on the Web

The National Park Service website is a great resource for teachers looking for classroom materials, students doing research or anyone who wants to learn more about our national parks (www.nps.gov/learn). Here's what you'll find:

Web Rangers is an excellent interactive program that makes learning from the home or classroom three-dimensional. Appropriate for off-site learning. Park Fun Guide for fun, online activities. NPS Junior Ranger a place to find interactive online activities for your junior rangers.

Teachers can find curriculum guides by park, additional online resources to help incorporate national park resources into lesson plans, locate teacher workshops for professional development, and assistance in planning field trips.
